

Applicant: Zappala, Stephen M.
For: Circumferential Compression Device for Intracavernosal Anesthesia and Method for Using Same

1           1.     A method for administering local or regional anesthesia comprising the steps of,
2                   providing an anesthetic comprising a premixed combination of lidocaine and
3    bupivacaine;
4                   injecting said anesthetic in an amount sufficient to achieve nerve blockage.

1           2.     The method of claim 1, wherein said combination comprises lidocaine
2    hydrochloride and bupivacaine hydrochloride.

1           3.     The method of claim 2, wherein said combination comprises 1% lidocaine
2    hydrochloride.

1           4.     The method of claim 1, wherein said combination comprises 1% lidocaine.

1

1            5.        An anesthetic comprising, a premixed combination of lidocaine and bupivacaine.

2            6.        The anesthetic of claim 5, wherein said combination comprises lidocaine
3 hydrochloride and bupivacaine hydrochloride.

1            7.        The anesthetic of claim 5, wherein said combination comprises 1% lidocaine
2 hydrochloride.

1            8.        The anesthetic of claim 5, wherein said combination comprises 1% lidocaine.